PROFILE

Hosting the event continued to raise the profile of the sport. Scotland is well positioned as a key mountain biking destination. Building the course helped to improve the profile and reputation of the park and, following successful delivery, this event has brought about more opportunities to bid for future championships.

elite competitors
and 316
general competitors

Valuable
opportunity to develop
both infrastructure
and personnel ahead of the Commonwealth
Games

“ The hosting of the Championships served to test Cathkin Braes Country Park as a venue for the Mountain Bike events for the 2014 Commonwealth Games. Many of the elite level riders who competed were selected to represent their home nations at the games. ”
